The Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association is pleased to have the privilege of publishing your contribution to SIGNAL entitled: "The Health of U.S. Intelligence" -- May 1984

So that you as Author and we as Publisher may be protected from the consequences of unauthorized use of the contents of SIGNAL, we must secure a copyright. To this end, we ask you to transfer to us all rights, including subsidiary rights, for your article, in accordance with U.S. Code Title 17, Copyright, revised to January 1, 1978. However, you retain the right to use your article without charge in any book of which you are the author or editor after it has appeared in SIGNAL.

Whereas the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association is the Publisher of SIGNAL, of which the undersigned is Author grants and assigns exclusively to the Association for its use any and all rights in and to the above named article, including all subsidiary rights. The Association in turn, grants the Author the right of republication in any book of which he or she is the author or editor, subject only to the Author's giving proper credit in the book to the original publication of the article by the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association.

The Author guarantees that the Article above named has not been published previously elsewhere. Otherwise, the Author guarantees that if it has been previously published in the whole or in part, permission has been obtained for publication in SIGNAL, and the Author will submit with the manuscript a copy of the permission and information for credit lines.

Government employees, under some circumstance, have the right to copyright protection of their work. To comply with the copyright laws, if you are a U.S. government employee, SIGNAL needs to know whether your article was prepared on your own volition or as part of your official duties for the U.S. government.

The Author will receive no monetary return from the Association for the use of his or her material.

Please sign and date this agreement. Return one copy to the Association immediately and retain one copy for your own files.

DCI:

Last year PAO prepared on your behalf an article for "Signal" magazine, an organ of the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association. We have received a request for another one for this year. I mentioned to you that I was preparing a submission. You said fine and would trust my judgment as to what to say and send it on. Nonetheless, in the thought that you might like to know what I am submitting on your behalf, attached is a copy. It will go to "Signal" on 2 March unless I hear from you to the contrary.

Director

Dear Mr. Casey:

In May 1984, AFCEA will publish its 38th Annual Convention Report issue of SIGNAL Magazine. Our convention issue is always one of our most widely read and, as in previous years, we plan to highlight the issue by publishing short statements from top military and government leaders.

Since we believe our readers would benefit from sharing your thoughts, we invite you to submit a short statement on C<sup>3</sup>I in conventional and strategic crisis management.

A statement of 300 words or less accompanied by your photograph would be a valued addition to this issue. Our deadline for receiving the statement and your photograph is March 9, 1984.

On behalf of the Association, we at International Headquarters solicit your participation in submitting a statement for this special issue and we look forward to hearing from you shortly with a favorable response to our invitation.

Sincerely,

Judith H. Shreve
